What's New In?

Win Versnioner is a utility designed to help you manage all the versions of your software. It was originally released under GNU General Public License version 2 or later, but it is currently available under Apache License version 2.0. Its latest version is 1.2. It works on all platforms supported by Mac OS, including Mac OS X. An additional 15 languages are also supported for download and for installation. Win Versnioner is a free, open source tool which allows you to work on systems, which do not have a main version number. Most other projects requires you to already know the name of the program. Win Versnioner can tell you the exact version number of every program you may have installed on your system. But, more importantly, it can tell you which components were updated since your last re-installation (assuming that you have already re-installed the programs). It can also tell you the update level of your programs and your installation date. By simply double-clicking on the application icon on your desktop, you can open the Main window, where you can start inspecting what you have on your computer. You can also download the latest version and launch it. In order for this utility to work, you need to perform a clean uninstall of your previous version of Win Versnioner. As with any other tool, you need to be careful while performing this task. Because, by removing the entire main dictionary (which includes the installation date, components, version number, and the name) you might be removing some of the valuable information that can be stored in the dictionary.
